

DMCA Policy

The University of Evansville takes the obligations of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA) very seriously. As such, we restrict illegal peer-to-peer (P2P) file sharing on or university network. P2P technologies may be used for legitimate purposes such as Instructional gaming, open source downloads, and licensed distribution of media files; however, the use of P2P software to violate copyright law carries a number of possible sanctions, including loss of internet access, internal disciplinary actions, and even civil or criminal charges. The university will make all efforts to comply with State and Federal legislations and authorities if users of the University of Evansville Network are suspected of violations

The following sites provide free, legal access to media for enjoyment without the risks involved with downloading or circulating copyright material. Each one has an associated app within the iOS/Android App Store.

Subscription free video content

Peacock – www.peacocktv.com

NBC's ad supported streaming service.

Pluto TV – www.pluto.tv

Cable-menu style aggregator of free video streams

Crackle – www.crackle.com

Ad supported streaming service with popular content

Xumo – www.xumo.tv

Ad supported News and Sports aggregator

Plex – www.plex.tv

Ad supported service with popular content

Subscription free music content

Spotify – www.spotify.com

Spotify offers limited free access in addition to a student discount

Pandora – www.pandora.com

Ad supported streaming playlist service

Idagio – app.idagio.com

Classical music streaming service

TuneIn – www.tunein.com

Sports, Music, News & Talk radio streaming service